Mark A. Carter is an astute legal counselor for businesses with a concentrated focus on finance and lending transactions, acquisitions and dispositions, contract development and commercial transactions and business insolvency.

Throughout his career, Mark has counseled public and private companies, start-up businesses, insolvent enterprises and financial institutions on a wide range of business transactions and objectives. He has represented clients in such diverse industries as food and beverage, steel fabrication, meat and food wholesale, paper and paper products, motor fuel and c-store, and dealerships and construction, among others. He regularly advises board members, managers and partners, regarding their duties and obligations and other corporate governance matters.

Mark is dedicated to accomplishing a result in accordance with the client's goals and aspirations. He approaches each client relationship with a common guiding principle: "Your investment is our investment and your business needs are our business needs." That principle consistently shines through in the quality of service and solutions Mark delivers to his clients.

Mark is an active member of the Institute of Illinois Business Law, both as Chair of its Dissolution of Entities Subcommittee and Member of its Limited Liability Companies Subcommittee. When he's not focused on client work, Mark works with several not-for-profit groups to address community needs and enjoys attending sporting events and time with family.
