BAR ADMISSIONS

State of Illinois

Katelyn M. Hodgman is a litigation attorney representing both corporate and individual clients in a wide range of commercial litigation issues. She astutely advises small businesses, financial institutions, product manufacturers, distributors, installers and vendors involved in contract disputes, restrictive covenant issues, insurance defense, collection matters and fiduciary litigation.

Katelyn's experience representing small, family-owned businesses has fostered her ability to understand and balance her client's business and personal needs. When issues arise for her clients, she maintains a big picture approach while narrowing in on important details to identify the best long-term solution that furthers her clients' overall goals. Katelyn prides herself on providing high-quality service, delivering thoughtful risk assessments, identifying and negotiating creative resolutions to disputes, and serving as a forceful advocate for clients in litigation matters.

Having grown up playing competitive ice hockey, Katelyn has always strived for success. Her ambition and drive to achieve has continued throughout her legal career as Katelyn is determined to secure the best possible outcome for her clients. Outside of work, Katelyn loves to travel and spend time with her family in Wisconsin.
